Spirit Committee Sponsors Dawn Pep Rally Tomorrow

A pre-dawn pep rally will kick-off the 1954 home football season at 5:30 a.m. tomorrow morning. This function is being sponsored by the Student Spirit Committee in order to boost spirit and attendance for the first University night football game against Miami University Saturday night in the stadium.

Torchlight Parade

A torchlight parade will lead the student body past the Fine Arts Bldg. to a vacant area where a giant bonfire will be burning. When all the groups have reached this section, the pep band and cheerleaders will lead the assembled students in cheers, songs, and a snake dance around the bonfire.

Pres. Ralph W. McDonald has been scheduled to make a few remarks from a platform which will be set up for the rally.

The parade will begin in front of Ridge Cottage at 5:30 a.m. and proceed west down Ridge St. to Thurston Ave. The group will march past the Gate Theatre and turn in at the front entrance to the University Campus, going around the circle, and proceed towards the old Falcons Nest. Along this route, the sororities and dormitories will join the parade.

From here, the rally will turn to the Men's Gym, and march left past the Commons, headed for Fraternity Row. Immediately past the Fine Arts Bldg. the assembly will arrive at the bonfire and rally platform.

Dormitories Joined

Dormitories have been joined for the parade as follows: Falcon Hall with Kohl Hall; East and West Halls with Williams Hall; R-8, R-9, and Stadium Club with Shatzel. A mass breakfast for these groups has been scheduled in the Women's Gym following the rally.

Fraternities and sororities will also band together for this annual event, and as is customary remain for breakfast at one of the houses.

Circulars have been sent to all housing units on and off-campus describing the route of the parade, Packard stated. Groups are urged to come dressed in themes connected in some manner with the football season.

Student Teaching Program Changed

Dr. Charles W. Young, director of elementary education, announced two changes in the student teaching program for the 1954-55 school year.

Students will teach all day during the semester, instead of teaching during the morning hours nine weeks and the afternoon hours the remaining nine weeks. Dr. Young stated that, for the first time, one-fourth of the elementary education student teachers would do their instructing out of town. Schools in Perrysburg, Fremont, Fostoria, and Findlay will accommodate these students.

These out of town placements are being made to relieve the increased enrollment. At the beginning of this semester, all the student teachers received a week of orientation in order to set up their programs. A seminar will be held each week in the later afternoon or evening.

Junior elementary education students will take no morning courses except their junior methods courses. Instead, they will use these hours for lecture, laboratory work, and discussion of methods in skills, content, and reading areas of the curriculum. Three hours each week will be spent in a public school, according to Dr. Young.

Copies Of 1954 Key Available Next Week

Students who did not pick up their copy of the 1954 Key last spring may do so next week in the Key office, 117 Ad Bldg., according to Mary Humphries, business manager.

Persons wishing to pick up their Key must bring last semester's activity card, and 15 cents for state sales tax. The office will be open from 3 to 5 p.m. beginning Tuesday, Sept. 26. Students should pick up their copy of the Key as soon as possible, said Miss Humphries.

Faculty members and organizations who expressed a desire to purchase a copy of the 1954 Key may obtain a copy by paying the purchase price, $5, and 15 cents tax.

The number of copies still available is limited, stated Miss Humphries, and campus personnel and organizations wishing to purchase a Key should complete arrangements as soon as possible.

Payne Elected To Head Senate; President Outlines Group's Duties

By BRAD GREENBERG

Carol Payne was elected Student Senate president at Senate's first regular meeting last Monday in 200 Ad Bldg. At the same meeting, Pres. Ralph W. McDonald explained the role of Senate in the life of the University and discussed in a 45 minute round-table session the duties which he has outlined to Senate this year.

Miss Payne has previously served on the Senate as a senator and, last year, was secretary. This special election was necessary due to the withdrawal from school of Richard Mahoney, president-elect. The closed voting was conducted by Mary Lou Wagner, Senate secretary and highest-ranking officer not running for the office. Herb Luyk is Senate treasurer.

Vacates Seat

Miss Payne's promotion to the presidency vacates her Senate seat and will enable Kathy Biscotti to receive a senatorship. Miss Biscotti was a third place alternate to the nine senators elected last May. The two alternates who received more votes, Conley and Carlisle, have already assumed Senate seats because of Mahoney's withdrawal and Kasten's double seat, one as an elected senator which he forfeited upon becoming ODK president.

Mr. McDonald, in explaining Senate's future place in the life of the University, stated that "the seat of student participation in the administration is always found in the dormitory or residence." He pointed to IFC, Panhellenic Council, and AWS as councils in which those responsible for organizations are brought together.

Most Important

Beyond the residence in the life of the University-at-large, President McDonald continued, the Council on Student Affairs and the University Committees are the most important incidents of student participation and are the major policy-developing groups.

He felt that Senate can never hold the place of a central guiding, supervisory agency, but should direct its functioning to those campus-wide phases of student life, "social, cultural, and recreational," where no activity is now carried on by any other group. Among such activities are the May Court, campus Charity Drive, U-A Prom, and student spirit-building organizations.

Dr. McDonald emphasized that the "thing we are striving for on this campus is in the direction of having the individual student determine in the largest possible manner his own conduct and behavior."

Selection of Students

Selection of student members for University Committees will no longer be done by Senate, the President announced, since it would better be done by an official University Committee. This group will consist of one representative each from ODK and Cap and Gown, two seniors, one man and one woman, selected by Senate, Arch B. Conklin, dean of students, Florence Currier, dean of women, and Stuart R. Givens, coordinator of student activities. He pointed out that this committee will function independently of Senate and the organizations with which they are affiliated.

A memorandum placed before the Senate by Dr. McDonald listed six specific functions for which Senate would be responsible. This included supervision of the Charity Drive, all-campus elections, the U-A Prom, pep rallies and cheering, May Court, and handling of the Senate budget, which amounts to approximately $750 this year, according to Mr. Givens.

Other Events

One clause in the memorandum states that Senate may "plan and conduct, either directly or through an appointed committee, any additional campus-wide activity or

Kasten And Packard New ODK Officers

Roger Kasten was elected president of Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership honor society for men, last spring at the group's meeting.

Other officers of the group elected last spring are Donald Packard, vice-president; Robert Smith, treasurer; Dr. Helms, secretary, and John Peterson, chairman of the leadership conference.

Dr. Paul F. Leedy, University librarian, was officially installed at the meeting as the newest faculty adviser to the society. The other faculty advisers who each hold the position for four years are Dr. Herschel Litherland, dean of the College of Education; Dr. Lloyd A. Helms, professor of economics and secretary of the faculty, and Dr. Emerson C. Shuck, dean of the Graduate College. Mr. Leedy was chosen the society's "faculty man of the year" at Honors Day last year.

McDonald, Conklin To Speak Monday At IFC Frosh Night

Interfraternity Council will sponsor a Freshman Fraternity Night at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 27 in the Main Aud., Richard Humphrey, IFC president, stated.

Pres. Ralph W. McDonald, Dean of Students Arch B. Conklin, and Humphrey will speak to the assembly on various phases of rushing, the fraternity system at the University, and eligibility.

Humphrey urged all freshman and transfer students to attend this session, so that they may be better informed about the rushing rules which will be in effect this semester. The annual fraternity handbook will be distributed at this meeting to all those attending. In it are contained the first year costs of BGSU fraternities together with other information pertinent to pledging a fraternity.

Your Professor Has It Made? Well, That's What You Think

According to a release from the Research Division of the National Education Association, "The typical salary paid to college and university professors places them at the bottom of the professional totem pole as compared with physicians, dentists, and lawyers."

The college professor, who does not have a strict eight-hour day as the dentist or lawyer, and who has in most situations a master's degree, is still receiving a salary which is "far below those paid in the best public school systems or even in occupations which require less or no formal education."

Surveyed 147 Colleges

This research, which is the first of its kind to be undertaken by NEA, found from a survey of 147 various colleges and universities that state universities pay salaries which are, on the average, better than either land-grant, teachers, or private universities and colleges.

The median beginning salaries in state universities for professors was found to be $5,525, a substantial amount when compared to the median or typical top salaries paid to professors of small private colleges of $4,860. The median net incomes of the three largest professions are: physicians, $10,285; dentists, $6,501; and lawyers, $6,956.

Head coaches receive more than professors, with median salaries which range from $4,000 in some small private colleges to $9,540 in land grant colleges. Some state universities and land-grant colleges report that top coaches can be paid as much as $18,000.

The median salary paid to presidents of state, private, and municipal universities is $15,000. Top salaries of $23,628 are reported by some state universities and land-grant colleges. The lowest salary reported by small private colleges is $4,200.

With several other offices studied by the NEA research committee it was found the state supported school paid higher in every case. The median salary of the dean of administration, $9,950; dean of men, $7,250; dean of women, $6,300; business manager, $9,500; head coach, $8,000; director of athletics, $8,045; director of research, $6,818; registrar, $6,700; and librarian, $7,500.

Hubbard Says

Dr. Frank Hubbard, director of the Research Division of the NEA commented, "It should be said, that among the small colleges is found the ultimate of that professional devotion which characterizes workers in American higher education."

One of the main problems of the university professor it would seem, then, would be to make his money stretch far enough to equalize the social eminence generally afforded him.

Faculty Members Receive Promotions

Several University faculty members and administrative personnel have been promoted this year by Pres. Ralph W. McDonald.

Frank C. Arnold has been promoted from assistant professor to associate professor of psychology; Jacob Cohen has been promoted from assistant to associate professor of economics; James Russell Coffey, from associate professor to professor of health and physical education; W. Heinlen Hall, from professor of chemistry to professor of chemistry and chairman of the department; J. Ringer, from comptroller to assistant business manager, and William Schmeltz from associate professor of accounting to chairman of the newly created department of accounting in the College of Business Administration.

Three administrative staff members have been elected to faculty rank. Harriet Daniels, head resident of Kohl Hall, has been elected to the faculty rank of instructor. Elton C. Ringer, assistant business manager, has been elected to the faculty rank of assistant professor, and Glenn Van Wormer, registrar, has been elected to the faculty rank of instructor.

Library Attempts To Halt Confusion

The University Library has placed signs on its circulation desk which clearly establish the areas where various functions are performed, Dr. Paul F. Leedy, University Librarian, stated.

This step has been taken in an effort to eliminate confusion around the desk at peak hours, he added. Three lines will be available for students to secure books and periodicals. One or more of these lines will be closed during slack periods.

A separate place is provided for the receiving of books by students when the books have been located by the assistants. One portion will be used for the return of books. Information, the payment of fines, and renewal of books will be made at one end of the circulation desk.

Library hours for the first semester 1954-55 are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday. The circulation and reference area will close at 5 p.m., Sunday.

Chamberlain, Geer, Davidson Get Posts

Among the many new appointments to the various offices around the University, are three new appointments to administrative posts.

John R. Davidson has been appointed assistant to the dean of the College of Business Administration. Mr. Davidson is an assistant professor of business administration, and is returning this fall from a year's graduate study at Ohio State University.

Dorothy B. Chamberlain has been appointed to the hospital staff as a full-time University physician. Dr. Chamberlain holds a B.S. degree from the Woman's College of Middleburg, and an M.D. from Albany Medical College, and a M.P.H. from Harvard School of Public Health. She also has special training in pathology, bacteriology, medicine, and psychiatry. She has had extensive experience, including service as college physician at Southern Illinois University, as an officer in the Medical Corps of the United States Navy, and as district and staff health officer in the New York State Department of Public Health.

Emily Geer has been appointed counselor in the College of Education. Mrs. Geer has both her B.S. degree and M.A. degree from Bowling Green State University. She is the wife of Ralph Geer, director of admissions.

Hours will be Monday, 9 to 10 a.m., and 1 to 4 p.m. Tuesday, 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. Wednesday 9 to 10 a.m., and 1 to 4 p.m.

'Ohio Schools' Prints Two Faculty Articles

Two articles by faculty members of Bowling Green State University appear in the September issue of "Ohio Schools," journal of the Ohio Education Association.

Miss Beryl M. Parrish, assistant professor of English, wrote an article entitled "Set the Student Free!" "Are You a Sophisticated Teacher?" was contributed by Dr. Mearl R. Guthrie, Jr., assistant professor of education.

In Our Opinion

The Big Chance

This is the big chance. The big chance to show what we've got this year in the form of spirit.

Everyone knows the football team has a big job on its hands tomorrow night, and no one doubts they'll use all the strength and power they possess against the roughest team on the schedule.

What do we have to offer? Will we give them the support they need? This is our first big chance to show that the students are indispensable advocates of this rising University.

It seems only logical that the cheering section should be as strong and powerful as it possibly can be to give adequate support to the men on the field who will bear the physical punishment.

Or are our athletic teams the only members of this campus who truly take pride in upholding the name of our University?

Use The Pails, Boys

In case Fraternity Row residents were wondering just why they were told not to wash their automobiles behind the houses, we've picked up some information for them.

John W. Bunn, director of residential and plant operations, said complaints have come from three sources—head residents, University police, and from his own office.

First of all, University police believed the washing of cars was an ideal condition for bringing on water fights. Second, at least three head residents had complained that instead of making pledge classes work on constructive projects, many fraternities had sent their pledges out to wash actives' automobiles. Third, Mr. Bunn said his own complaint was that the men often were in the habit of letting the hoses run after washing the vehicle, and allowing the water bills to run high.

Mr. Bunn said he has no objection to men taking only a pail of water out to wash the car, but discourages the use of garden hoses.

Reporter Finds Students Differ On Freshman Hazing

This week's inquiring reporter decided to see how the students felt about freshman hazing and if it should be continued or dropped.

James Loyer, sophomore: "I think it should be abolished myself, no one practices it."

George Gisser, senior: "I think it is juvenile."

Mary Mower, freshman: "I think if there is going to be hazing there should be more of it."

Donald Offhaus, senior: "Gives freshmen the idea of college life and spirit."

Steve Kistler, freshman: "I like the idea."

Dottie Brown, junior: "I think it's good. There should be more of it and they should be made to wear their beanies. They will enjoy it in future years."

Dr. Balogh Spends Summer As Prison Special Consultant

Dr. Joseph K. Balogh worked in three penitentiaries in western Pennsylvania during the summer as a special consultant. Dr. Balogh stated that the state of Pennsylvania has recently set up two classification and diagnostic centers—one in Western Pennsylvania, where he spent five weeks and the other in the eastern part of the state.

The state employs sociologists and psychologists in these centers. It was Dr. Balogh's job to watch and observe the techniques in diagnosing and classifying inmates for rehabilitation at these prisons. While observing he gave certain recommendations and suggestions for improvements that could be made within the center.

He spent three weeks in Western Pennsylvania State Penitentiary, located in Pittsburgh, which is a maximum security prison, and two weeks at Rockview Penitentiary, near Bellefont, a minimum security prison, and Huntington Institution for Defective Delinquents.

At these prisons he made recommendations to the administrative officers on how improvements of the physical plant could be made; qualifications for the guards; religious education, vocational, and recreational programs.

Rockview and Western Pennsylvania State Penitentiary, both have had severe riots in the last couple of years, stated Dr. Balogh, and he was to make observations on the morale of the inmates.

Dr. Balogh said that he interviewed 150 different inmates for research on penology. He is especially interested in the reasons crimes are committed.

event which meets certain criteria." The activity must be "consonant with the policies and tradition of the University, beyond the scope of any existing campus organizations, promoting the academic program of the University, and financially self-supporting."

This clause is in accord with the President's remark at the session that Senate shall function in those areas where no other group is active.
Dean Conklin newly-appointed Senate adviser received suggestions from senators for appointments of faculty members to serve as advisers to Senate committees.

Senate decided that the meetings will be held less often this semester, and will be called when important matters are brought to the attention of the executive committee. The group also decided that the meetings would be conducted in the form of a council, rather than a formal meeting.

Religious Courses Offered By UCF

A variety of religious courses and study groups are being offered by the United Christian Fellowship this semester to aid students in the development of their intellectual grasp of the Christian faith and its application to present problems.

The program is designed to help fill a gap in the student's college training, according to Betsy Sandlin, chairman of the Christian faith and heritage commission of UCF.

Beginning Sept. 28 there will be a non-credit course offered each Tuesday and Thursday in the Wesley Bldg. at 3 p.m. on "The Life and Teachings of Jesus." This will be taught by the Rev. Paul Bock, director of United Christian Fellowship.

Each Thursday from 7 to 8 p.m. a Bible Study group will discuss "The Relevance of the Old Testament for Today." Herb Hackenbush will conduct these discussions and invite local ministers as resource persons.

In addition, a number of short-term study groups are being planned to appeal to various interests. For freshmen there will be an opportunity to join a group of 10 or 12 students who hold informal discussions, some in faculty homes, using pamphlets prepared by the student YM-YWCA entitled "The Christian Student in the University," and "Faith, Sex and Love."

Among topics selected for upperclassmen are "What do Protestants Believe?" "What Today's Religious Leaders are Thinking," "Ethics in a Business Society," and "Movements toward Church Unity."

A group, particularly for graduate students, has been proposed. Any student interested in the program may sign up in the Wesley Bldg.

Depth Vs. Defense In Falcon-Miami Scrap

Tomorrow night Coach Bob Whittaker sends the Falcons against his alma mater, Miami University, in the first Mid-American Conference game of the year. The contest starts at 8:15, marking the first home night game in Bowling Green's history.

The BG-Miami series record stands at 9-2 in favor of the Redskins, the last Falcon win coming in 1942. In the 11 games between the schools, the Redskins have outscored the Falcons 333-68 in total points.

Miami has a depth of 22 lettermen returning, seven of which are starters. The Redskins were inched out of the MAC title last year when Ohio University held them to a 7-7 tie.

The Redskins have depth and a well balanced team, but there is no outstanding star. Both starting tackles are returning from last season. National collegiate shot-put champion and twice all-conference tackle 6-5, 246-pound Tom Jones will be the biggest thorn in the Falcon's side.

Also back from last year will be 212-pound Roger Siesil at the other tackle position. Veteran starters Stan Jones, 201-pound right guard; Jay Ansel, 178-pound right end; and 190-pound full-back Bob Bronston will be on hand to keep the Falcon defense and offense hopping. More of the same are Denny Studrawa and Dick Hunter, who between them last year as alternating starters completed 50 and 95 passes for 16 touchdowns, and Ed Merchant, right halfback who was the team's second highest ground gainer, averaging 6.2-yards per carry.

Backs Show Promise Along with them are other backs who didn't start regularly but caused a lot of rumpus around the MAC circuit: Tom Troxell, who scored three touchdowns against Bowling Green in his college debut before an injury; last year Turrel Burton and Glen Swigart both showed promise by uncorking long scoring runs last season, and Bobby Wallace, a blocking back who has been highly underrated. Even though Miami has depth, Coach Parseghian feels that the Redskins will be unable to afford the casualty rate that they had last year. Parseghian terms this year as, "our most challenging year."

Speed vs Defense If Coach Parseghian carries out his pre-season plans for more wide open play with lots more passing Saturday night could prove most interesting.

The clash will be between the speed and size of Miami's backfield and the defensive power of the Falcons. Here's what BG's defensive power will be up against. Turrel Burton, fleet Miami half-back, who picked up 337 yards rushing last season in 41 carries. Burton also gained 137-yards on punt returns. Ed Merchant who will also see plenty of action Saturday night carried 66 times last year and piled up 413 yards. Two other backfield men who will bear watching are Jack Acus, who netted 223-yards last year, and Bob Bronston, who was responsible for 285-yards worth of ground.

It's no secret that the Redskins have power and depth in their backfield. Undoubtedly the loss of Tom Pagna will be felt, but a glance at the statistics show that Miami will provide tough competition for all their MAC playmates.

As was stated, all we have to base Miami's potential on are statistics, but they're pretty impressive ones. Saturday will answer many questions preying on both coaches as well as fans. Whether Miami will play as they look on paper remains to be seen. We're all anxious to see if the defensive display by Bowling Green against Dayton will be just as effective against the Redskins.

'Anna Christie' First Of Ten Scheduled Cinema Club Films

Cinema Club has announced the scheduling of ten films for the 1954-55 school year. According to Miss Virginia Merrell, Chairman of the Film Arts Society, these range in scope from light comedy to mystery and heavy drama films and include many of the classic pictures of the motion picture era.

The films will be shown to Cinema Club members in the lecture room of the Chemistry Building at 7 p.m. on Monday evening.

Cinema Club is a non-profit group organized in 1950 to promote the appreciation of the film as an art and is supported by subscriptions and contributions. Memberships are $3 per semester or $5 per year, and the club is limited to 100 members. Reservations for membership may be made with Miss Virginia Merrell, University Library.

Cinema Club opens its season Oct. 4 with Eugene O'Neill's play "Anna Christie," which is translated to the screen as Greta Garbo's first "talkie." It was one of the best films of 1930 and established Greta Garbo as one of the finest actresses the screen has known.

The classic "outdoor epic," "The Covered Wagon," of the silent screen will be shown Oct. 18. The film is being remade by Paramount in Technicolor in the new Vista Vision process and will star Alan Ladd. Also on the program will be the first film to be edited by a film editor, Edwin S. Porter's "The Life of an American Fireman," filmed in 1899, and a sequence from the William S. Hart western, "The Last Card," first released in 1915.

Comedy will be the subject when "The Navigator" is presented Nov. 1. This will be the third time in five years that the film has appeared on a Cinema Club series. Two short comedies will be shown on the same program, "High and Dizzy," starring Harold Lloyd and "Dream of a Rarebit Friend," by George Melies.

The formal masterpiece of the silent screen, "Intolerance," by D. W. Griffith will be shown Nov. 15.

Ending the first semester series the immortal Rudolph Valentino will be seen in "Monsieur Beaucaire." Valentino plays one of his most exciting costume roles and is supported by two of the most beautiful silent screen stars, Bebe Daniels and Lois Wilson.

New end coach for the Falcons, Merle Schlosser, shows Bob Wrzesinski the correct passing technique. Kirk Fowler, full-back, watches intently.

The second semester series opens with "Johnny Belinda," on Feb. 14. This contemporary film won Jane Wyman an academy award for her performance as the deaf mute. Assisting Miss Wyman in her stirring role are Lew Ayres and Stephen McNally.

Marlene Dietrich's first American sound film, "Morocco," shown Feb. 28, shows the influence of the silent film in accenting action rather than dialogue. The cast also includes Adolphe Menjou and a "youngster" named Gary Cooper and is directed by Josef von Sternberg.

Charlie Chaplin and Marie Dressler star in Mack Sennett's classic comedy, "Tillie's Punctured Romance" to be shown March 14. "Night Must Fall" scheduled for March 28 is a mystery thriller which has become almost a classic. Excellent acting by Robert Montgomery, Rosaline Russell, and Dame May Whitty give the picture added allure.

A fitting ending to a series of classic films, "Laura," will be shown April 18. It features brilliant acting by Dana Andrews, Gene Tierney and Clifton Webb and a haunting theme by David Raksin which has become a music classic. For the film enthusiast, it is a milestone in the motion picture.

Harriers At Albion; 5 Lettermen Return

Coach Dave Matthews will begin his eighth year as the Falcon cross country coach, when Bowling Green meets the Albion trackmen at Albion, Mich., on Oct. 5.

The Bowling Green Cross Country record since 1949 stands at 30 wins and 10 losses. "It doesn't look as though we'll be as good this year as we have been in the last five years, however," Matthews said.

"One reason for this," Matthews says, "is that school started late this year, and we have only two weeks to practice instead of the usual three or four. Also, our season this year depends on the sophomore members of the squad. We have a lot of potential, but it is hard to tell right now how we'll do."

Oct. 8—KENT STATE
Oct. 13—At Wayne

The entrance can be reached through the doorway on the ramp. All students will be required to show activity card with their ticket. Student sections will be the same as in the past, sections D, E, and F in the stadium. Students desiring to sit in south side bleachers may do so, too. They will enter at the main gate located at permanent ticket booth, using the south turnstile.

"And this is the entrance to the Bosphorus." Orhan Tece, right, graduate student of sociology from Turkey, shows picture postcards of his native land to Marilyn Felix, a department secretary.

Student Up In Air; Doesn't See Sunlight For 15 Hours

"It was the longest night of my life, I didn't see the sun for 15 hours," said Orhan Tece about his flight across the Atlantic ocean. He left Shannon, Ireland at 9 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 11, and landed in Newfoundland at 8 a.m. Sunday on the last leg of his journey to Bowling Green from Turkey.

Mr. Tece, who received his law degree from the American College and Faculty of Law of the University of Istanbul, was attached to the Bar Association in Istanbul and was employed by the Foreign Operations Administration in Ankara. He applied to the Institute of International Education through the United States Education Commission in Turkey for a placement in the United States. The commission placed him with the sociology department of this University and paid his travel expenses here.

Degree in Sociology
An attorney in Turkey, Mr. Tece plans to get his master's degree in sociology. "National concern influenced and inspired me to amalgamate my interest in sociological affairs which affect Turkey seriously today," said Mr. Tece in answer to a question about why he left Turkey.

During the 12 months that he will be in the United States, he plans to spend approximately nine months at this University studying research techniques, juvenile delinquency, sociology, penology, labor-management relations, and statistical analysis. He hopes to get a three month internship for more study at Huntington Institution for Defective Delinquents in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Tece said, "the Turkish nation considers the United States a great country which has made the basic principle of its foreign policy one of reconciling its own interests with the welfare of all mankind. The attitude taken by the United States in the face of Communist imperialism is protecting the free nations and is keeping fresh, hope of liberation in nations that are in servitude. We in Turkey think of the United States as a peace loving nation rendering a great service to mankind.

Turkish-U.S. Relationships
"The foundation of Turkish-American friendship rests in the hearts of the Turkish nation and the close understanding and collaboration existing between the United States and Turkey constitutes the basic guarantee of peace.

"I am glad to see that the Turkish friendship for the United States is understood and appreciated by the American people. The United States and Turkey find themselves bound to one another by mutual, vital requirements in the face of a common danger.
